Dear Federal Communications Commission,

Thank you for accepting comments on Net Neutrality.

My comment is that it is imperative to keep Net Neutrality. The very smallest issue is the convenience of individuals accessing online entertainment. The largest is our economy and working lives.

I do a great deal of my business online. I sell products and teach classes online, as well as advertise and contact customers. It would greatly hurt my very small business to have my internet speed slowed down.

I know that there are millions of small business owners like me who would be similarly affected.

Please keep the internet neutral and support the hardworking small business owners in our country.

Sincerely,

Karen Kohlhaas, owner
